The Virginia Department of Transportation has completed road repairs on Alder School Road between Route 287 and Purcellville Road. Alder School Road has reopened to traffic.

The road had been closed since mid-February for emergency repairs to the failed culvert over South Fork Catoclin Creek. The repairs cost approximately $240,000.

Alder School Road in this area averages 350 vehicles (including as many as 35 school buses) a day.

Sam Sanderson Maybe they should have had the highschool building plan think of things like added road traffic and you know maybe fixed it before they opened the highschool 6 years ago.
